(1) This is a non-IFRS Measure. See section “Non-IFRS Measure” below for further information.

The Company’s net income in the year ended June 30, 2020 was primarily the result of the license revenues of $5,202,500. The license revenues were the result of issuing a license to AMVAC Chemical Corp. (see the Company’s news release of April 2, 2020), and was the first such license issued by the Company since its inception. See “Disclaimer” below.

In comparing our current year and previous year results, our Net Income increased by $5,861,900 and our Adjusted EBITDA increased by $6,570,357 as a result of:

- the license revenues earned,
- reduced operating expenses incurred as compared to the prior year, and
- a greater amount of our development costs qualifying for capitalization as intellectual property expenditures. During the June 30, 2020 year the Company’s primary development activities were the continued development of its SMART Seeder technology and the development of the prototype SMART Seeder MAX-S as part of the joint venture with Norwood Sales Inc. (“Norwood”)

Graeme Lempriere, Chief Executive Officer of Clean Seed states “2020 was a very progressive and productive year for our company. The years of intensive development and strategic planning are beginning to pay off, positioning us well for our future. Our partnership with Norwood has proved to be extremely beneficial and I could not be happier with the outcomes to date. Our first license agreement sets the standard for additional parallel opportunities around the world, leveraging our strong intellectual property portfolio with other synergistic opportunities will remain a dovetailed approach to our future growth plans.”

NON-IFRS MEASURES

In analyzing our results, we supplement our use of financial measures that are calculated and presented in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) with “Adjusted EBITDA (LBITDA)”.

References to “Adjusted EBITDA (LBITDA)” are to profit (loss) before income taxes, interest on loans, depreciation, amortization and non-cash share-based compensation expenses. Management believes that, in addition to profit or loss, adjusted EBITDA (LBITDA) is a useful supplemental measure in evaluating the Company’s performance. This non-IFRS financial measure is not standardized; therefore, it may not be possible to compare these financial measures with other companies’ non-IFRS financial measures having the same or similar businesses. Management cautions investors that adjusted EBITDA (LBITDA) should not replace profit or loss as indicators of performance, or cash flows from operating, investing, and financing activities as a measure of the Company’s liquidity and cash flows. Reconciliations of non-IFRS financial measures to the most directly comparable IFRS financial measures are contained in our MD&A. See more details in the Company’s MD&A for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2020.
